

to the difference in the time of arrival upon our shores of the immigration from the two groups of countries—the Slavs and Italians have not been here long enough as yet to give as large a foreign stock as the northwestern European races have given.