

Emerson, "The Scientific Selection of Employees," The Efficiency Society Transactions, Vol. I, pp. 341-344; J. A. Furer, "Hiring Men on Basis of Physique and Skill," American Machinist, Vol. 40, pp. 51-54; F. C. Herderschott, "Methods of Selecting Men in Business," The National Association of Corporation Schools, Bulletin I, pp. 31-45; B. J. Hendrick, "Fitting the Man to his Job," McClure, Vol. 41, pp. 50-59; B. J. Hendrick, "Scientific Employment Plan," Review of Reviews, Vol. 48, pp. 567-576; C. L. Herrick, "How to Select Best Men," Modern Methods, Vol. 19, pp. 387-390; F. L. Jandron, "Selection and Employment," Engineering Magazine, Vol. 45, pp. 562-567; J. T. Lincoln, "On the Buying of Labor," Manufacturer's Record, April 25, 1912; F. W. Loughran, "The Necessity of Physical Examination of Applicants for Employment," The Efficiency Society Transactions, Vol. I, pp. 313-318; H. W. Merton, "Analyzing Character by Study of the Faces," Business, Vol. 31, p. 270; C. D. Murphy, "Man for the Job," System, Vol. 23, pp. 402-410; C. D. Murphy, "Living up to Your Employment System," System, Vol. 24, pp. 18-25; H. Newton, "Scientific Employment of Men," Scientific American, Vol. 109, pp. 68+; G. Sacerdote, "Is the Right Man in the Right Place?" American Machinist, Vol. 35, pp. 927-928; H. A. Worman, "Finding the Right Man," Factory, Vol. I, p. 59+; "To Pick Workers Scientifically," Literary Digest, Vol. 46, pp. 703+.