

CONTENTS

CHAPTER I

INTRODUCTION . . . . . 1-14

United States financial condition previous to 1857, 1. Crisis of 1857, 2. Treasury notes issued, 3. Loan of September 8, 1860, 4. Political campaign of 1860, 5. Decline in revenues, 6. J. A. Dix made Secretary of the Treasury, 7. Characterization of James Buchanan's administration, 9. S. P. Chase made Secretary, 10. Loans made by Secretary Chase, 10. Secretary's report of July 5, 1861, 12. Causes of vacillating financial policy from 1857 to 1861, 13.

CHAPTER II

DIRECT TAX . . . . . 15-44

Used before 1861, 15. Suggested by the Secretary in 1861, 16. By the press, 18. Constitutionality questioned, 18. Bill introduced, 19. Attitude of Congress and public, 19. Amendments offered, 21. Bill passed, 23. Provisions for administration, 24. Provision for States to assume tax, 25. Administration in seceded States, 26. Tax suspended till 1865, 27. Returns, 28. Instructions to commissioners in seceded States, 29. Tax suspended indefinitely, 30. Opposition to sale of lands in seceded States, 31. Collections in Southern States suspended, 33. Direct tax in Delaware, 34. In West Virginia, 34. Former owners permitted to reclaim land, 35. Georgia Case, 35. Direct Tax Case, 36. Collections under direct tax laws, 38. Methods adopted by the States for raising their quotas, 38. Suggestions to refund direct taxes collected, 40. Objections to refunding, 41. Act to refund passed, 43. Criticisms of the tax, 44.

CHAPTER III

THE INCOME TAX . . . . . 45-97

Suggested in 1815, 45. Proposed as amendment to tax bill in 1861, 46. Added by Senate to tariff bill, 47. Rates imposed by the bill as passed, 48. Secretary Chase on income tax, 49. Memorials for increased taxes, 50. Income tax of 1862, 51. Rates, 52. Certain incomes taxed at source, 53. Method of assessment, 55. Rulings of the Commissioner on the income tax,