

CONTENTS

SECTION 1—FUNDAMENTALS OF BUSINESS ECONOMICS

	PAGE		PAGE
Economic Organization from View-point of Business Executive		Characteristics of Business Fluctuations	23
The Economic System . . . . .	3	Losses of Business Men Due to the Business Cycle . . . . .	26
Fundamental Factors . . . . .	3	Business Failures . . . . .	26
Nature of Capital, and Its Part in Production . . . . .	4	Measure of Prosperity by Business Profits . . . . .	26
Population and Production . . . . .	5	Losses of Labor . . . . .	26
Organizing Ability and Production . . . . .	6	Losses of Farmers . . . . .	28
Constitution of the Individual Business Unit . . . . .	7	General Economic Losses Due to the Business Cycle . . . . .	28
Route from Producer to Consumer . . . . .	8	Price Margins, Profits and the Business Cycle . . . . .	29
Competitive Contacts . . . . .	8	Phases of the Business Cycle . . . . .	30
Specialization in the Economic System . . . . .	9	Summary of Conditions Existing at Close of a Period of Depression . . . . .	30
Basic Considerations Relating to Distribution . . . . .	9	The Revival of Business Activity; Expansion in the Physical Volume of Trade . . . . .	32
Factors Affecting Remuneration for Economic Activities . . . . .	10	Rise in Prices . . . . .	33
Role of Business Enterprise in Distribution . . . . .	11	Sequence of Price Changes . . . . .	35
Conditions Determining Rent . . . . .	11	Rise in Commodity Prices Followed by Increase in Wages . . . . .	35
Rate of Interest . . . . .	12	Advance in Interest Rates . . . . .	36
Non-Competing Groups in Relation to Wages . . . . .	12	Rise in Prices and Effect on Demand for Goods . . . . .	36
Tendency to Equality of Wages Within Groups . . . . .	12	Increase in Profits . . . . .	36
Determination of Wages . . . . .	13	Increase in the Volume of Investments . . . . .	37
Competitive and Monopoly Profits . . . . .	14	Period of Prosperity . . . . .	38
		Conditions Essential to Continuance of Prosperity . . . . .	39
Economic Organization and the Price System		Development of Weakness in Prosperity	39
The Functions of Money . . . . .	14	Accumulation of Stresses Within the Business System . . . . .	39
Price Margins and the Movement of Economic Goods . . . . .	15	Barriers to Increased Selling Prices . . . . .	41
Necessity of Proper Adjustment of Margins Between Buying and Selling Prices . . . . .	15	Crisis and Liquidation . . . . .	43
Prices of Raw Material Groups . . . . .	16	Financial and Commercial Panics . . . . .	44
Prices of Consumers' Goods and Producers' Goods . . . . .	16	Effect of Federal Reserve System on Panics . . . . .	44
Other Classifications of Prices . . . . .	16	Period of Depression . . . . .	45
Price Margins and Profits . . . . .	16	Bond Prices Exception to Decline . . . . .	45
Price System and the Co-ordination of Economic Activities . . . . .	17	General Effect of Depression . . . . .	45
Competition and the Price System . . . . .	18	Diversities Developing in the Business World During the Business Cycle . . . . .	45
Price Equation . . . . .	19	Diversity in Volume of Production and Prices . . . . .	47
Control of Price Movements . . . . .	20	Summary of Persons' Explanation of the Business Cycle . . . . .	47
Index Numbers of Prices . . . . .	21
Index Numbers of Cost of Living . . . . .	22	The Analysis of Business Conditions: Business Forecasting
		Relation to Business Cycle . . . . .	49
Business Cycles		Analyses and Forecasts of General Business Conditions . . . . .	50
Crises and Panics as Phases of the Business Cycle . . . . .	23		