

The International Prize Court will be permanent. It will co-exist at The Hague with the Court of International Justice and form part of the same system of international judicature.