

III

The victory of the November revolution led to the final elimination of landlordism and of land ownership confined principally to the upper strata of the village; at the same time it brought about a considerable parceling out of land among the poor and middle peasantry. This may be seen from the following tables giving the comparative distribution of land in a number of districts before and after the revolution:

Groups of Farms Classified Accord- ing to Value of Means of Produc- tion Owned	Area Per		Change	1924-25 Area in Percent- age of Pre- war
